Mosquito spraying fee to be levied

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE—If city residents want a good mosquito control program, they'll have to pay for it.

A $7.70 per month mosquito control charge will probably be levied on Belle Glade residents next year.

The Belle Glade City Commission decided to include the charge, totaling $8.40 a year, as part of the proposed 1983-84 budget when it met in workshop sessions last week.

According to Mayor Thomas L. Altman, the charge is expected to raise about $43,000 in revenue. The rate was determined by dividing the number of utility bills by the amount spent on mosquito control so far this year.

The $7.70 fee will be attached to the utility bills Belle Glade residents receive each month, according to Altman.

The mosquito control budget, which was budgeted for $44,406 last year, was budgeted for $59,586 this year.

The commissioners decided against a rate high enough to raise all of the revenue budgeted for the program because too many outside factors affect the cost of the program, said Altman.

Altman added that he believes the fee will probably be adjusted each year.

"I think so, yeah," he said. "Depending on if we have a commission which is willing to go along with that."

Ron Sigmond, the city utilities director, will be looking at preventative mosquito programs used in other areas.

"They do a lot of that in Lee County," said

26-hour manhunt bags 2 escapees from Glades Correctional Institution

BELLE GLADE—A 26-hour manhunt involving three local law enforcement agencies succeeded in recapturing two escaped Glades Correctional Institution inmates early this week.

Officers from GCI, the Belle Glade Police Department and the Glades Sheriff's Office substation searched a cane field between Belle Glade and South Bay starting early Monday, August 2, in an attempt to locate the two escapees believed to be hiding there.

Oscar Crespo, 31, from Dade County, serving time for second degree murder, and Carlos Pedron Fonta, 28, from Hillsborough County, serving time for burglary, had allegedly escaped from GCI Thursday, July 29, at about 1 a.m.

Fonta was apprehended in the field west of 715 and south of SR 80 Monday, August 2 at about 9 p.m.

He was apprehended by three sheriff's office employees and a GCI employee after several hours of tracking on foot, according to a release prepared by the sheriff's office.

Crespo was apprehended Tuesday morning, July 3, at about 10:50 when he was observed walking along the east side of a canal beside US 27 eight miles south of South Bay.

According to the sheriff's office, the two are also suspects in two breakings and entering incidents on Chalcien Road east of South Bay. Those incidents were reported to the Sheriff's Office Sunday, August 1.

A 26 HOUR MANHUNT resulted in the capture of two escaped Glades Correctional Institution inmates earlier this week. More pictures are on page 9A.

Sergeant's exam set in SB, charges hurled

SOUTH BAY—The South Bay City Commission voted Tuesday night, August 3, to reactivate the city's civil service board, and allow two police officers to take tests to determine who is best qualified for the sergeant's position currently held by one of the two.

The commissioners' decision came on the heels of accusations of racism by Patrolman Robert Walker.

Walker accused the city of using race in its employment decisions and implied that he was passed over for the sergeant's position because he was Black and the officer who received the promotion had worked with Chief Forrest at another city.

Forrest admitted that he and Sergeant Steven Scheumacher had worked together at Coconut Creek, but added that he promoted Scheumacher to sergeant because he did an "excellent job."

Walker was also upset because of a reprimand that was placed in his file recently for insubordination.

Walker said he was reprimanded because he had talked to Commissioners Willie Marshall and Rennick Morris.

Marshall said he had asked Walker about his job at the department and Walker had told him he was receiving too much night duty.

He said Walker and he had been friends for years and it was an informal conversation.

Forrest said he had nothing against officers and commissioners having informal conversations about anything, but felt he had to take action when the subject of those discussions showed up on his desk as official inquiries.

He reprimanded Walker for insubordination because he broke the chain of command, said Forrest, but would remove the letter from the record because he had not known of the relationship between Marshall and Walker when he wrote it.

Walker, who originally approached the commissioners about the letter, said he had other complaints stemming from the sergeant's promotion which he said he felt he deserved.

"I'm not so flunkie," he said. "I know some of the qualifications I have are better than what he (Scheumacher) got."

He accused the board of using race as a yardstick in its employment and promotion policies, saying that since a Black police chief had been released for misconduct in the past, the commissioners had "almost made up their mind" that Blacks are out of power.

Mayor Donald E. Tanner protested that charge, pointing out to Walker that prior to Walker's current problems with the department, a new commission with a Black majority had taken office.

"Don't hand me that stuff no more," said Tanner.

Walker claimed that he was dissatisfied with police department and would probably be leaving it soon because "something's going on here" that he wasn't at liberty to reveal.

He wanted to know why he wasn't promoted to sergeant after staying on the only South Bay police officer for seven weeks after the department walked off the job earlier this year.

"Some people are proud of the job I did here for seven weeks when I was alone," he said. "It don't make sense. If I'm so bad, fine me. I'm tired of patrolman's pay when I think I'm qualified for something else."

Commissioner Rennick Morris also made accusations against the chief and city. He said his appointment as police commission is "just a name given to me."

He accused the chief of not giving the type of service he said he would when he was hired earlier in the year.

He said the chief isn't in the office enough and has not fulfilled a promise he made to meet all the local businessmen.

He also said Forrest should also be more interested in the city and its government and should attend more commission meetings.

"I believe he did not have no respect for the commissioners," said Morris.

"I do have the utmost respect for the citizens of this community and its commission," said Forrest.

He said he has been busy doing his best to make the department into a professional unit and has consulted with the city manager, "my boss," when problems have occurred.

"I have been pulling shifts," said Forrest, adding that it is hard for him to make contact with all 4,800 people in the community.

"Unfortunately, I can't get out and reach every one of them," he said.

He also said he has been meeting local business men, but has not had time to meet all of them yet.

He also said it is an administrator's prerogative to discipline his employees and promote those he felt were best qualified.

Officer rescues children from fire

BELLE GLADE—Belle Glade Police Officer Jeff Hawkins entered a burning apartment Friday, July 30, and emerged with two children trapped in a room of the dwelling.

According to department reports, Hawkins responded to an alarm at about noon that took him to an apartment at 653 SW Fifth Street.

Several neighbors told him that two children were trapped in apartment which was on fire. "It was going pretty good when I got there," said Hawkins. "It was real hot. There were alot of plastic fumes. I tried to get in the front door two or three times, but couldn't."

Hawkins said he returned to his police cruiser to retrieve a fire extinguisher which he used to break the bedroom windows on the west and south sides, where he could hear the screams of the children.

He finally located the children in a rear bedroom and removed them through the window he entered through.

Andre Veron, 2, and Samella Denard, 4, were treated by a rescue unit.

Their mother, Irene Veron, 27, was visiting a neighbor, said Hawkins.

Jeff Hawkins

"They weren't hurt," said Hawkins. "They hadn't received any smoke or anything."

He said a fire department official had told him that the children were rescued prior to what could have been death.

The fire's origin was determined to have been a spliced electrical cord lying behind a couch. The cord heated up and ignited the sofa, according to the report.

The fire was extinguished by 12:29 and caused an estimated $4,000 damage.

Marina plans firming up

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE—Plans for proposed commercial improvements at Pahokee Harbor will probably be ready for inspection by city officials within one or two weeks, according to Robb Tiller.

Tiller said Tuesday, August 3, that he is forming a corporation with Silvia Schantz of Fort Lauderdale to build the recreational resort.

He had approached the city council about the project Tuesday, July 27, and had received a letter from the city council Thursday, July 29, voicing its intention to lease the facility to the corporation for 50 years if it undertakes the improvements.

Some of the land at the harbor is currently controlled by the state, but Tiller said he sees no problem in the city gaining control of it. The state has been attempting to have the city take over the facility, but up to now the city has refused because of the operating expense involved, said Tiller.

Tiller also said the United States Army Corp of Engineers had given approval to the city in 1977

TOM LEWIS

State Senator Tom Lewis has officially filed for the Republican nomination in Florida's newly created 11th Congressional District.

The 11th Congressional District is the nine-county area incorporating Glades, Hendry, Highlands, Okeechobee, St. Lucia, Martin, and portions of Collier, Indian River and Palm Beach counties. Sen. Lewis has represented some 80 percent of the people in District 12 as state senator for the past two years.

Lewis was first elected to the Florida House of Representatives in 1972 and served there through 1980. He served as Republican floor leader from 1978 to 1980. In 1980, Lewis was elected to the Florida Senate by a 72.6 percent margin over his opponent, the largest majority vote of any Republican senator elected to office.

One of the two Democratic candidates seeking the District 12 Congressional seat, John Bradford (Brad) Culverhouse, was in the Glades Friday, July 30, testing the local political waters.

Culverhouse, 38, met with residents in Clewiston, Pahokee, and Moore Haven before returning to his home in Ft. Pierce.

Culverhouse, an attorney and rancher, said he is the only Democratic candidate with a connection to and understanding of agriculture. His opponent is Dennis Koehler.

"Unemployment is one of the key issues. Hendry County is suffering close to 15 percent unemployment," said Culverhouse. "I want to do what I can to put people back to work. Part of this lies in reducing interest rates."

"As a cattleman, I know what high interest rates mean in the way of erosion of profits," he said. Culverhouse said he is also troubled by illegal immigration into the United States.

"We need those jobs and services for Americans. I'm in favor of interdiction on the high seas by the Coast Guard of vessels bound for the U.S. with illegal immigrants," he said. "I feel for those people. I have compassion for them. But at the same time, their coming here places a burden on the taxpayer and could take away jobs from Americans who need them," he said.

Only aliens who meet the criteria of political refugees should be allowed to stay in the United States. Economic refugees should be sent back, he said.

An exception would be the importation of Jamaicans for cutting cane. "Sugar is a key part of the economy of this area," he said.

If he is elected, Culverhouse said he would favor price supports for sugar. Had he been in Congress in 1981, Culverhouse said he would have voted for non-recourse loans for sugar.

Culverhouse said he is concerned about some provisions of the Caribbean Basin Initiative. "I oppose duty-free importation of agricultural produce into the United States. It could have a disastrous impact on local produce," he said, noting that sugar is protected to an extent by quota restrictions.

More needs to be done for small businesses. Ninety percent of the tax breaks under the current Economic Recovery Act went to big businesses, he said.

Culverhouse says his connection to agriculture is long-standing. He is a former Future Farmers of America Star Farmer, and as a youngster, once spoke at at FAA banquet in Clewiston.

"I know about the problems of agriculture. Agriculture needs a strong voice," he said.

Culverhouse said he also understands how Glades residents feel in not having local representation. "Being sensitive to that, I believe I can provide better representation than anyone else who is running," he said.

Culverhouse is a fifth-generation Floridian. His grandfather, B. A. Brown, was elected to six year terms as sheriff of St. Lucie County.

Culverhouse and his wife, Susan, have a 21-month-old son.

He is a graduate of Indian River Junior College, the University of West Florida, and earned his law degree from the University of Miami.

He has practiced law since 1975 and served as managing partner of Culverhouse Cattle Corp. since 1978.

There were also lectures and discussion sessions, dance classes, a pizza party and fashion show. Two of the Raider cheerleaders, Ildiro Martinez and Stephanie Jackson modeled in the fashion show. Condradt participated in the opening show and was awarded a superior ribbon. Man arrested for forgery, resisting arrest, grand theft

BELLE GLADE - A man three Belle Glade police officers were attempting to arrest in connection with payroll check thefts became violent and was charged with resisting arrest and forgery.

Ferry Bruce Walker allegedly attempted to use a stolen payroll check to purchase merchandise from Miner's Grocery on SW Avenue E. Friday July 30, when Virginia Brewer, a clerk and bookkeeper at the store, recognized the $141.82 check as one reported stolen from Roth Farms earlier in the day.

Brewer set off the store's silent alarm, alerting police who found Walker in the store when they arrived. When approached by the three officers, Sergeant Curtis Stambaugh, and Officers Gary Young and John Dinda, Walker supposedly became violent, according to police reports.

Walker was charged with three counts of uttering a forged instrument, three counts of grand theft and one count each of forgery and resisting arrest. Walker allegedly stole seven checks totaling $1,237.72 from Roth Farms earlier in the day. According to police reports, he supposedly entered the office of the business and told an employee that he was there to pick up the payroll checks for one of the work crews. The person on duty, believing he was one of the laborers, gave him the seven checks. Later, he realized the individual was an impostor and notified police. Police and Roth Farms were in the process of notifying all local businesses when it was discovered that two of the checks were already cashed. The individual had allegedly cashed a check for $254.42 at Tiny's Liquor store on SW Avenue E and a check for $171.21 at January's Grocery on West Canal Street South. Officer Jeff Hawkins investigated the incident at Tiny's Liquor and Young investigated the cashing at January's Grocery. The silent alarm at Miner's went off at 12:43 p.m., and the three officers responded, according to Detective Jack R. Fulenwider.

Fulenwider said latest prints belonging to Walker were found on the checks cashed at Tiny's and January's by Identification Officer Fred Riebel. Those prints were verified by Lieutenant George W. Farnall, a fingerprint expert with the department.

All the charges filed against Walker, who is on probation from three other charges, are third degree felonies said Fulenwider.

Three vehicle accident claims life

BELLE GLADE - A three vehicle accident eight miles east of Belle Glade claimed the life of a Pahokee man early Monday morning, August 2, according to Florida Highway Patrol reports.

James Small, 61, of Palm Boulevard in Pahokee, was killed when the automobile he was driving allegedly veered off the east bound lane on state road 80 and struck the west bound vehicles driven by Humberto Diaz, 28, of slightly injured, according to police reports. No charges were pressed, according to the report.

Farris and Diaz received minor injuries. Two passengers in the Small vehicle, Henry Osborne, 61, of 453 Cypress Avenue in Pahokee and Hamill Lee Garvin, also 61, of 720 Belle Glade Road in Pahokee, received minor injuries.

A passenger in the Diaz vehicle, Rene Rodriguez, 27, of West Palm Beach, was also slightly injured, according to police reports. No charges were pressed, according to the report.

Commission passes zoning change, millage rate

SOUTH BAY — The South Bay City Commission Tuesday, August 3, passed a recommendation by the Zoning Board exempting the South Bay Inn from the alcohol zoning prohibiting it from selling and serving alcoholic beverages. The board recommended the exemption because a church and school in existence at the time the zone was created no longer exists. The action, which passed unanimously, permits South Bay Inn to sell and serve alcoholic beverages. The commission also adopted at tentative millage rate of 5.535. In other business, the commission:

- Voted to approve a contract which would provide a county building inspector to the city for $500 per month. The county had been providing an inspector free, but now wants to be compensated, said City Manager Max Harrelle. The county inspector will use the county building code instead of the city code, said Harrelle. "It's somewhat more stringent," he said. "But it's a very good code."

Harrelle said at one time he had been inspecting the buildings. "We're going to have some building commission up that I don't feel I'm qualified for inspection," he said.

Mayor Donald E. Tanner said that the state and county had both recommended the city hire an inspector other than Harrelle.

• Tabled a motion to permit Florida Power and Light to begin phasing in sodium vapor streetlights. The sodium vapor lights could save the city between $2,628 and $3,700 per year, according to Tommy Priest, an FPL representative.

Tanner said the city will probably decide to approve the changeover from mercury vapor lights after it studies the streetlight patterns and determines where to put the higher-lumen lights.

City sets tentative millage, first budget public hearing

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE — The Belle Glade City Commission scheduled the first public hearing for the proposed 1982-83 budget for Wednesday, September 15, while Frank Anderson, the city's finance director, said he was notifying the county of the city's tentative millage rate.

The city commission had set a tentative millage rate of 5.10 at a Saturday, July 24 workshop session, the first of two budget sessions.

City Manager Tom Wagner's budget proposal was reviewed and revised at the two sessions. "This budget recommendation represents the most austere, bare-bones, cutback operation seen in many years by the city," Wagner said in his budget statement. "And although several key items pointed up in preliminary meetings were addressed, severe revenue constraints cause the city manager's recommendation to fall far short of demonstrable needs."

Wagner estimated general fund revenues to be $4,919,198, an increase of about $300,000 from last year's estimate.

Wagner also said he was anticipating a $53,000 carry-over from the 1981-82 budget.

"In our determination to furnish to you a plan based wholly upon current projected revenues, we have been forced to cut, in several cases, perhaps too deeply, into departmental budget requests to satisfy our expectations," Wagner said in his statement to the commissioners.

The proposed budget included:

- $46,300 for city commission expenses. Last year, $40,288 was budgeted.

- $109,292 for the city manager's expenses. Last year's figure was $107,064.

Wagner pointed out to the commission that he treated himself the same as every city employee, except he excluded himself from merit pay increases.

- $56,493 for the city clerk's office. The department had requested $61,745. Last year's budget for the city clerk's office was $50,450.

- $335,070 for the finance department was recommended, cut from the request for $365,720.

Last year, the finance department was budgeted $311,062.

- $46,880 for counsel and legal fees, trimmed down from the request for $78,880.

According to Wagner, any amount budgeted in that category is a guess. Last year, $38,120 was budgeted in the category, and $53,176 had been spent by June 26.

Mayor Thomas L. Altman said most of the expenses in that category result from law suits filed against the city by Florida Rural Legal Service.

"I think that is a real travesty," said Altman. "Every property tax payer in this city is paying 10 percent of their taxes to defend Florida Rural Legal Service law suits."

He questioned the wisdom of budgeting such a low amount in the category.

"The pace of existing litigation has picked up drastically," Altman said. "And probably will continue to do so."

- $6,517 was the proposed budget for the Civil Service Board, the same as last year's budget.

- $16,882 was proposed for the general government fund. This figure is lowered from the $17,283 budgeted in that category last year.

- A budget of $43,749 was proposed for city hall. The request was for $46,240. The proposed budget is identical to last year's budget.

- $5,000 for promotional advertising, a $1,000 cut from the request. Last year's budget was for $4,500.

- The city garage was budgeted for $192,217 under Wagner's proposed budget. The department had requested $222,872. Last year's budget was $166,656.

- $277,842 for building and grounds. The request had been for $316,973. Last year's budget was $296,345.

- $1,510,700 for the police department, reduced from the request for $1,660,710. Last year's budget was $1,463,406.

The budget was closely examined by the commissioners, several of whom expressed a desire to concentrate on law enforcement.

The budget will include funds for an added detective to serve on a Glades area narcotics task force. The detective will team up with the county sheriff's office to concentrate on the drug traffic problem in the Glades area, according to Chief D. Bill Mathis.

Wagner expressed disapproval of the planned task force because a county-wide effort in the past had failed.

"The county-wide plan was geared only to the influx of high volume dealers," Mathis told the commission. He added that most of the dealers now are "stumble upon arrests" because the department has no drug related force.

The revised budget will also include funds for riot helmets and a walking patrolman.

"In the upcoming year, we're going to have to be more aware of law enforcement than we have in the past," said Altman.

"State and federal policy changes and the economy will contribute to more local crime programs," he added.

Commissioner George Goforth agreed that funds for the department are important, but said he felt other departments were just as important.

"We've got other services that are just as vital," said Goforth. "I'm not knocking the police department. I think they're doing a good job."

• $396,380 for fire protection. The department had requested $425,756. Last year's budget was $370,446.

• A budget of $46,435 was recommended for the planning and building department, up from last year's budget of $44,167. The request was for $52,799.

• $22,214 was recommended for civil defense, the same figure as last year. A $26 increase had been requested.

• $37,210, an increase from last year's $36,783 budget, was recommended for traffic control and signs.

• $821,076 was recommended for sanitation. The request was for $896,026. Last year's sanitation budget was $766,762.

• A $108,283 budget recommendation for public works, increased by a little over $4,000 from last year's budget.

The department had requested $150,819.

Wagner recommended budgeting $245,520 for streets. Last year's budget was $188,063, and the department had requested $465,412.

The commissioners had earlier in the year expressed a desire to budget money for street improvements.

• A recommendation of $6,166 for the airport, increased by $102 over last year's budget. The request was for $9,166.

• A loading zone budget of $1,400, down from $1,675 in last year.

• $59,298 recommended for mosquito control, up from last year's $44,408 budget. The revised budget recommendation the city will consider in September will include a $70 monthly charge to city residents for mosquito control.

• $24,000 was recommended for grants and aids, an increase of $1,000 over the request. Last year's budget was $21,930.

• $110,852 budget recommendation for the library. The request was for $123,553. Last year's budget was $106,441.

• $179,882 for the recreation department, up from last year's budget of $169,614. The department had requested $193,332.

• $101,153 for the municipal golf course, decreased from last year's $103,333 budget. The budget estimate requested by the department was $113,868.

• $9,700 for the country club, up from the estimate of $4,800. The budget last year was $5,243.

• $1,500 for parades, a cut of $35 from the request. Last year's budget was $1,395.

The city commission had made revisions on this recommended budget and will be considering the revised document at its hearing September 15.

The revisions were made in two budget workshops, the first lasting all day Saturday, July 24 and the second held the evening of Thursday, July 29.

Perspective

Improvements are on wrong part of SR80

Word came from West Palm Beach last week that the county commission "has taken the first step toward improving the road known as 'killer 80.'"

The press release went on to state that $11 million in revenue bond money would be provided to widen state road 80 "from the intersection of State Road 7, west to 'F' Road in Loxahatchee."

Commissioner Dennis Koehler, who happens to be running for the United States House of Representatives, was quoted as saying "This is one of the most positive steps this county has taken in a long time, and I'm excited about it."

His colleague on the board of commissioners, Chairman Norman Gregory, who just so happens to be running for reelection, has determined that "This will solve three of the most pressing transportation problems that have been plaguing Palm Beach County for more than a decade."

They're in a position to be excited. We aren't. Their campaigns can benefit from the recent action, but residents, and taxpayers, in the west portion of the county, where the real "killer highway" exists, are left with poor roads and hazardous driving conditions in the best weather.

In this case, policy makers are capitalizing on an emotional issue by making it appear they are attempting to solve it, while nothing has actually been done.

Their play will, unfortunately, work since most of the voters in the county are planted in the east portion of the county. These voters won't know the difference if our roads are repaired and made safe or left in their present conditions.

But the commissioners have made it appear that they are solving the problem.

Mosquito fee is welcome tax

The Belle Glade City Commissioners, in all probability, will probably vote in favor of levying a monthly 70 cent mosquito tax on the residents and users of city utilities.

The tax is expected to raise over $43,000 in 1982 and 1983.

Many economists and politicians on the local and state levels have predicted that budget cuts and tax cuts at the federal level will result in higher local, county and state taxes, thus negating the effect of the federal tax cuts.

They may be right, but we believe this is one tax that is well founded.

Mosquitos in the Glades are a problem. Until 50 years ago, the Glades were nearly inhabitable, due in large part to mosquitos.

Even now, mosquitos can make life very miserable during rainy seasons.

Not only are mosquitos irritating, but they are also carriers of disease.

It is doubtful if anyone would argue the value of mosquito control.

Who should pay for it though? We believe it reasonable to charge the citizens of Belle Glade $8.40 a year for such a vital service.

The city is facing hard economic times also. It can't afford to supply all the services expected of it out of general fund revenues, and still keep millage rates down.

This tax allows the city to hold down its property tax rate and still levy the tax on the users.

If it is used properly and if the money raised through it goes strictly for the combating of mosquitos, we see no harm in this tax.

Seventy cents a month seems a small price to pay for a good mosquito control program.

THE GLADES DISTRICT of the Gulf Stream Council of the Boy Scouts of America presented Recognition Plaques to members of the community who helped the council and district Sustaining Membership Enrollment Campaign during the year. The awards were presented on behalf of Dalton Yancey, SME chairman.

Changes we favor on ballot

The people of Florida will be called upon in November to vote on a number of constitutional amendments.

We like the following:

HJR 43-H
Pretrial Release and Detention
The proposed change states that a person charged with a crime may be denied bail if there is reason to believe the person's release would risk physical harm to the community, harm the integrity of the judicial process, or raise serious doubts as to whether the accused would show up at the trial.

Currently, the Constitution states that every person charged with a crime shall be entitled to release on bail unless they are charged with a capital offense or an offense punishable by life imprisonment and the proof of guilt is evident or the presumption is great.

A change is needed specifically because of the ease with which drug smugglers are able to raise bail and then drop out of sight.

HJR 31-H
Searches and Seizures
This amendment will allow Florida courts to use a more liberal interpretation of the State Constitution when ruling on the admissibility of evidence obtained during searches and would reduce the number of cases overturned on technicalities regarding those searches.

The Attorney General has stated that the proposed change conforms with federal law on issues relating to searches and seizure and the exclusionary rule.

"Florida courts have construed Florida's prohibition against unconstitutional searches and seizures and have applied Florida's constitutionally based exclusionary rule in a very broad fashion. Thus, Florida is one of the most restrictive states in the nation, if not the most, in terms of the admissibility of evidence in criminal proceedings."

"These restrictive evidentiary standards mean it is much more difficult to convict criminals in Florida than in other states and our federal system," reads a memorandum from the Attorney General's office.

At a time when Miami has become the most violent city in the United States and crime in other Florida cities and towns is erupting as well, we need laws which protect society as a whole, not just the criminal.

By bringing Florida's understrength search and seizure law up to at least Federal standards, we will provide lawmen an equal chance in the war against crime.

Lobbying

This resolution would prohibit former legislators and statewide elected officials from representing other persons or entities for compensation before any state governmental body, for a two-year period following the vacancy of the office, unless they file full public disclosures.

We would like to see a flat prohibition for the two year period, public disclosure or not, but half a loaf is better than none.

BOILER PLATE

The best part

Because I firmly believe in getting in shape at least once a year, I decided to do some running Sunday evening.

I figure that if I don't have a heart attack, I must still be in fairly good shape.

I'm shy about certain things, including letting people see how slowly I run these days.

So when I got to the school track and saw one of the most dedicated of local grid booters watching the football field irrigation system irrigate, I felt a twinge of embarrassment.

He knew what I was up to right away. "Going to get in some roadwork?" he asked.

He said he ought to join me, but hadn't quite worked up the enthusiasm for torturing his body. Besides, although he had shorts on, his flip flops (maybe they were sandals, I don't recall for sure) weren't exactly made for running.

We talked about the prospects of this fall's football season and the safety of the irrigation system.

He said that the pipes are buried about 18 inches under the turf and that the end into which the sprayer is inserted is below ground level. When not in use, the pipe end is covered by a round rubber disk, preventing football players from falling on the metal and hurting themselves.

I thought about that a while and added that if Yankee Stadium had installed rubber disks over their sprinkler heads, Mickey Mantle might not have torn up his knee so many years ago.

It boggles the mind to ponder how many more homers he might have hit if it wasn't for a sprinkler system over which he tripped.

Dusk was falling and he had to turn the water off, leaving me to run in solitude.

At first, I decided to try for one mile, but when I had completed the first mile, found myself still alive, and feeling reasonably good, I went for two.

Not to leave you hanging in suspense, I completed the second mile too, and went home hot, sweating, and considerably looser than when I had started.

I had a fairly good idea that I would survive because I had done it several weeks earlier with the Army and the distance was four miles then.

I am confident that running is good for the human body, although there is some debate about this. I recall that Neil Armstrong, our astronaut who took one giant step for man on the moon in 1969, once said he didn't believe in exercise because the heart only has a finite number of beats anyway.

Running may not be a panacea for anything, but done in moderation it gives one a satisfying, if tired, feeling.

Moreover, it gives us a chance to get back in tune with our bodies and think basic thoughts, divorced from the Falkland Islands, Lebanon, unemployment, and so on.

That may be the best part of all.

Prather-Klanjac exchange vows

Lenora Gail Prather and Gregory Matthew Klanjac exchanged wedding vows Saturday, June 26th during a candlelight, double ring ceremony at the Northside Baptist Church in Panama City, Florida.

The bride is the daughter of Solomon Prather of Marianna and Mrs. Inez Prather of Panama City. Her grandparents are Mr. & Mrs. Thaddeus F. Prather of Dozier, Ala., and the late Mr. & Mrs. J.H. Smith Gault, Ala. The bridegroom is the son of Edward L. Klanjac of Citrus Heights, Calif., and Mrs. George Smith of Belle Glade, Fla. His grandparents are Mrs. Matthew Klanjac and the late Mr. Matthew Klanjac of Centerville, Iowa and Mrs. Loraine Webster and the late Mr. B.T. "Tiny" Webster of Belle Glade, Fla.

A program of nuptial music was performed through the ceremony by Terri Davis, organist; Kim Baker, pianist; and Doris Hudson and Jenny Hair, soloists.

Presented in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an ivory gown of sheer polychiffon featuring French imported alencon lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice, featuring a v-neckline, was accented by the raised waist which tapered to a dropped waist at the back. It was trimmed with alencon lace and seed pearls.

The long fitted sleeves, also enhanced with alencon lace, had a scalloped finish. Her chapel length train enhanced the full skirt. She wore a cap attached to a fingertip veil highlighted by netting and alencon lace and carried a cascade of silk white yellow throat orchids interspersed with sprays of seed pearls to complete her ensemble. Jan Lanford served as maid of honor and was attired in a gown of deep baby blue chiffon. Bridesmaids were Jenny Hair, Lisa Churchill, Evelyn Grammer, Cheri Salter, Melody Chance, Terri Aptown and Kim Massey all attired in pale baby blue chiffon gowns.

George Smith acted as best man and usher-groomsmen were Ron Como, Brian Hurd, Phil Beasley, Mickey Grindstaff, Rick Gold, Jacinta Agamonte and Tony Shimkovich.

The bride's mother was attired in a gown of rose chiffon and the mother of the groom wore a gown of pale silver chiffon. Both mothers wore corsages of deep pink rosebuds. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Panama City Women's Club with many friends and relatives of the bride assisting. The wedding was directed by Bob Bowden and reception by Dena Stesley.

The couple embarked on a cruise to the Bahamas for their honeymoon. They will reside in Austin, Texas where the groom is employed by Furr's Cafeteria chain.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by Mr. & Mrs. George Smith, was held at the Harbour House Restaurant in Panama City on Friday, June 25. The bride's colors were carried out with a beautiful centerpiece arrangement of blue and white flowers at the head table.

Out of town guests included the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Loraine Webster, Mrs. B.B. Bradstock, Mr. & Mrs. Homer Hand, Barbara Hyneman, Lisa Smith and Lisa Bailey all from Belle Glade and Mr. & Mrs. Jimmy Webster of Boynton Beach, Mr. & Mrs. Leon Warren of Williston, and Agnes Moses of Ocala.

The bride was honored with many showers, luncheons etc. in Panama City as well as a calling shower held in Belle Glade on June 3rd at the home of Mrs. Homer Hand and hosted by Barbara Hyneman, Bobbie Grindstaff, Pat Smith, Layna Hayes, Sherry Barnes and Sue Bailey.

Keeping the faith

by Joe Ed McGabey

"The word of God is living and active; sharper than any double-edged sword, it penetrates even to dividing soul and spirit, joints and marrow; it judges thoughts and attitudes of the heart." Hebrew 4:11 NIV

Several years ago I wrote a column concerning the authority of God's Word (Bible). We talked about man living in rebellion when he rejects authority, therefore when man rejects the authority of the Word of God, he is in rebellion against God. This is true whether he realizes it or not.

Today, let us consider the power of God's Word. In the King James Version, the verse begins, "For the Word of God is quick and powerful..." other translations use the phrase "full of power."

We cannot imagine the power there is in the Word of God. To begin with, it was by the spoken Word of God that creation came into being. Turning back into the Book of Genesis (First Book of the Bible), first chapter, God said, "Seven times." And God said, "Let there be light, and there was light." (Gen. 1:3) "And God said, 'Let there be an expanse between waters to separate water from water: So God made the expanse (sky)." (Gen. 1:6-7) "And God said, 'Let the water under the sky be gathered to one place, and let dry ground appear, And it was so." (Gen. 1:9) And so did all of creation come into being. By His word spoke creation into being.

But the written word of God, the Bible, is also powerful. That is what our text is telling us. The power of the written word was demonstrated in an incident out on the Sea of Galilee several years ago. My wife and I had taken a group of people to Israel and one morning our group boarded a 60 foot boat to cross the sea. The sea was rough (3-4 foot breakers), however, we were in no danger because of the size of our boat. Out in the middle of that body of water I asked the skipper to stop the boat, while I read some scripture and had a meditation. I read Mark 4 where Jesus rebuked winds and waves. When I read those words, "Quiet! Be Still!" (Mark 4:39 NIV) the Sea of Galilee suddenly became like glass and the wind stopped. There was a German group on board the boat, and their leader who could speak English came and asked me how I put the sea to rest. I told him I did not, but that the sea had responded to the Word of God that I had read. Actually, I was as surprised as anyone else by the incident, and yet I should not have been. The Word of God has the power to change our lives, to lift up the fallen and to heal the sick. Jesus said, "The words I have spoken unto you are spirit and they are life." (John 6:63 NIV). Getting back to our text, "The Word of God is living and active." This means there is energy and activity in the Word of God. This energy comes from the Holy Spirit—God's Presence working through God's Word. As we read in 2 Timothy 3:16 "All scripture is God-breathed..." The breath of God, or the Spirit of God, is working through it.

If we will read and study scripture with the purpose of letting it speak to us and minister to us it will do just that. From the words of God's Word, we will be changed, encouraged, convicted of sin, strengthened in righteousness and healed. Read the Word of God in an attitude of prayer asking God to let it speak to your heart and mind. Today we have only touched the surface of the power that is in God's word, but we will again return to this subject.

Landscape planning for your vacation

By Dr. Robert J. Black
IFAS Extension
Horticulturist

Many of you will probably be going on vacation within the next few weeks. It is important to get your landscape and garden plants in order prior to departure for vacation.

During a one to two week period away from home, considerable damage can be experienced by plants if care is not provided. This is especially true for plants growing in containers - both indoors and outdoors. It is asked, a neighbor will probably check on plants while you are gone. It is important to give this person proper instructions as to the needs of each plant. Needs may vary considerably and a friend may not have the same type of sensitivity for plants as the owner.

sublerably and a friend may not have the same type of sensitivity for plants as the owner.

A little time spent in readying your home for your absence may spare you many extra hours of work upon your return. Perhaps the following checklist will be helpful.

Place your outdoor potted plants in a shady location. This may be near the side of a building having a northern exposure or within the protective cover of a heavy foliage plant.

Potted plants may be placed in the ground up to the rim of the container. A thick layer of mulch will conserve moisture and reduce the number of waterings needed on vacation.

When caring for indoor plants, place them in a room which receives indirect light. Direct sunlight will dry the soil quickly. Do not leave plants in a darkened room, because drop leaf will surely result. The last thing to do before leaving on a trip is to thoroughly soak the plants. If the vacation extends over a two-week period, move house plants outdoors and sink pots in a shaded and cool garden bed.

Now the lawn just prior to leaving, if possible. An unkempt lawn is a tell-tale sign no one is home, as well as being bad for the lawn grass to get out of hand. Perhaps mow a little shorter than usual if your stay will be long. Water the lawn well prior to leaving, or make provisions for sprinklers to be turned on. Treat for chinch bugs and/or fungus, if signs of these pests are present.

Give garden beds and plants, particularly those recently planted, a final and good soaking prior to leaving. It will help to mulch plants with leaves, pine needles, compost or bark to conserve moisture. Cut flowering annuals just before leaving.

Annuals which go uncut will soon cease to bloom. Plant food is used to nourish developing seed instead of production of new flowers on foliage.

If weeds are allowed to go to seed while away, you can expect a much harder job of weeding later in the season or next year when the seeds sprout. Weeds also rob desirable plants of food and moisture.

Harvest all ripened or nearly ripened fruit and vegetables prior to leaving. Vegetables will continue to produce if harvested often. Make arrangements with a neighbor to harvest and water the garden in payment for vegetables and fruit.

Give plants a good spraying or dusting to protect against harmful insects and diseases. Provide a good overall weeding prior to departure.

Caution required for safe campfires

Watch out where you start a campfire in Florida is the warning being given by the state Division of Forestry these days.

Anybody building a fire outdoors is responsible for that fire until it is dead and out. In the past year a number of unsuspecting campers have learned these fire sometimes are harder to suppress than they are to build. "We've always had the problem of routine campfires occasionally escaping and becoming wildfires," said Division of Forestry Fire Chief M.C. Long. "But in the past year or so we've had a number of campfires that were unknowingly set on muck and wound up taking hundreds of manhours to suppress.

"Our advice to anyone planning to camp in the woods is that they ask the landowner's permission before they set any fires," Long said. "Usually a landowner will know if there are areas of peat, muck or other organic soils on his property."

Campfires are legal in state forests only in designated areas, and brochures clearly indicate which areas.

Long also offered a few tips about building and dousing wildfires. "The single most important thing to remember about campfires - or any fire in or near the woods - is, don't ever leave it unattended," he said. "Just like taking your eyes off the road while driving, it only takes a moment for disaster to strike."

After learning the general area in which it is safe to build your fire, check for a spot that is free of overhanging branches, moss or other ignitable materials. Clear away surface debris (grass, leaves, pine needles, sticks and other flammable materials) several feet on each side of the spot and build a small fire, adding fuel one piece at a time until the blaze is large enough for cooking or warming.

Always be ready to extinguish the fire should you need to leave it, or if the wind increases enough to blow it out of control. To put out the fire, douse it with water if available, or sand if water is not available, mixing the unburned fuel, dirt and ashes until all steaming and sizzling stops.

TROPHIES WERE handed out to Everglades Farm Equipment, left, which won second place in the B Division; Theo's, above, which won third in the regular season and

City league awards given

BELLE GLADE - The winners and leaders in the Belle Glade city softball league were recognized at an awards ceremony at Airport Park Monday night, August 2.

The awards ceremony marks the end of the 1982 summer season.

Mike Underwood, the league coordinator, presented the awards, saying the season was one of the best.

"We had a tight race in both divisions all year," he said.

Team trophies went to the top three finishers in each division at the end of the regular season.

In the A Division, the first place trophy went to Glades Sugar, second went to Mace Sod and third went to the All Stars.

In the B Division, the first place trophy was awarded to Duda, the second place trophy to Everglades Farm Equipment and third to Theo's. The mini-tournament trophies, which went to the winners of the tournament played after the regular season, also were given out that night.

First place in the A Division went to Okeelanta, which finished fourth in the regular season but swept through the mini tournament with three consecutive victories.

Theo's won the B Division mini-tournament trophy by sweeping their post-season series with three victories. Theo's had finished third in the B Division regular season.

The batting trophies were also awarded. Mickey Freeman of Glades Sugar won the A Division trophy with a batting average of .809.

Mayon McMullen of Everglades Farm Equipment won the B Division batting trophy with an average of .585.

A homerun trophy was awarded in the A Division to Doug Roberson of Okeelanta who belted 11 long balls in the season to lead the league.

In the B Division, six players were tied for the homerun lead with one homerun apiece, so Underwood said he decided to give a Most Valuable Player trophy instead.

Alan Cumpton of Duda was given the award. Underwood said the decision was made after conferring with umpires and coaches. Cumpton was among the division's top ten hitters with a .448 batting average. Underwood also said he helped pull the team together when tempers were hot and was one of the team's RBI leaders.

Okeelanta Coach Woody O'Neill then presented recognition awards to Mike Underwood and the Belle Glade City Commission.

"We have something nice here and I think its time we show some appreciation," O'Neill told the crowd.

ALAN CUMPTON, of Duda, was given the MVP award for the B Division in lieu of a homerun trophy.

GLADES SUGAR AND DUDA took the first place trophies in their respective divisions. At left, Mike Underwood hands the A Division trophy to Mike Haddan of Glades Sugar. At right, Duda's trophy is given to a team member.

THE ALL STARS won the third place trophy in the A Division.

USDA requests comments on 1983 feed grain program

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block is asking the public to comment by August 26 on provisions of the 1983 feed grain program, the details of which must be announced by November 15.

Block said the U.S. Department of Agriculture would like to receive as many comments as possible so it will have a broad range of public opinion about the program. He said he will study the public's recommendations, as well as the most current data on U.S. and world crop conditions and crop supply and demand before he makes final decisions.

Specifically, USDA would like to receive comments on:

—loan and purchase prices, target prices and national program acreage;

—whether to establish either an acreage reduction or set-aside program, and, if USDA establishes reductions for corn, oats, barley or sorghum, the levels of such reductions;

—provisions governing acreage devoted to conservative use;

Two more forgery counts charged against man

BELLE GLADE — A Belle Glade man charged last week with forger and grand theft has been charged with two more counts of forgery and two more counts of grand theft, according to Detective Jack R. Pulewider.

Timothy L. Hicks, of 1001 NE 26th Street, Belle Glade, was charged in the forgery of two checks drawn on the Florida National Bank checking account of Frances V. Miner.

Hicks had allegedly cashed the checks, one for $140 and the other for $110, at a local drug store using the name of Pat Hill.

He had earlier been charged with three counts of forger, one count of grand theft and one count of uttering a forgery when he had allegedly cashed a forged check from Miner's account at the same drug store.

At that time, eight checks from Miner's account were supposedly found in his possession: numbers 4154, 4156, 4157, 4160, 4164, 4165, and 4166. So far three checks have been recovered: 4159, 4162 and 4163.

Miner is in custody.

Portable classrooms being added at Canal Point Elementary School

THE CANAL POINT Elementary School is a throw-back to another era.

MUCK has been displaced and foundations started.

CANAL POINT - Portable classrooms are being built at Canal Point Elementary School in preparation for an expanded curriculum this fall, according to a school official.

Commissioners said the portable classrooms will be used when the school opens in the fall with fifth graders in attendance.

This will be the first time since the school became an elementary school that fifth grade will be taught there.

According to Sears, the school had a kindergarten through fourth grade after a version from a high school.

The Palm Beach County School Board at this summer voted to adopt the K-5 plan for the district in an effort to add consistency to the curriculum.

Sears said she did not know when the completion of the portables would be completed.

Everglades deer hunt assessed by GFC

TALLAHASSEE - More than a week after the emergency deer hunt in the Everglades concluded, the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission is still assessing the herd in the area, according to commission reports.

Commission biologists will use three methods in their assessment, according to Executive Director Colonel Robert M. Brantly.

The first is a mortality check, he said. Every day, biologists are conducting aerial and airboat searches of Conservation Area 3A, site of the controversial hunt. Deer carcasses are tagged with an orange plastic streamer to eliminate double-counting.

The check will continue until the mortality ceases, according to Brantly.

"That will be whenever the water levels recede and sufficient food is available," said Brantly. "Or until mortality has occurred sufficiently to reduce the herd to a size compatible with the available food."

Commission biologists, along with Dr. Frank Hayes of the Southeastern Wildlife Disease Study and Dr. Joseph Wagner of the University of Miami, also set up a mobile lab at the Miami Canal rest area on Thursday, July 29.

They will assess the herd's condition by collecting samples of deer from the north and south areas, Brantly said. Their work will determine the degree and type of parasite load, disease factors, nutritional state and other biological factors which may be beneficial in determining future management strategies for the area.

When the waters go down and the deer are dispersed through the marsh again, conclusions can be made, Brantly said.

Biologists will take a census of the deer herd, using the same methods they used in June to determine herd size. That figure, subtracted from the June census, will provide the best data on the total mortality to the herd.

The emergency deer hunt on Conservation Area 3A was conducted only on the south section of the area because the Commission's management strategies were challenged in court.

The legal proceedings forced the cancellation of a scheduled hunt July 16 and 17 in the north section.

According to Brantly, the delay has caused some problems for the herd, but there might be some benefits derived from the controversy.

"If a similar situation should recur, the question of capturing and relocating the deer should not be raised again," he said.

While hunters participated in the hunt in the south section of the area, the Commission had allowed the preservationists to attempt to rescue 100 deer from the north area. After one and a half days, 18 deer were removed and the preservationists decided to halt the rescue attempt.

"I must admit that the Commission was correct, that it is a physical impossibility to remove enough animals to significantly reduce the population in this area," said Jack Kassewitz, Jr., of the National Wildlife Rescue Team which coordinated the capture attempt.

According to a Commission release, two of the deer have died in captivity.

Brantly said the decision not to reschedule the emergency hunt in the north section of Area 3A was for biological reasons.

"It has been erroneously reported that the rescue operation had some bearing on the cancellation of the hunt in the north area," he said. "That is not the case. It was purely a biological decision."

"The delay resulting from the court intervention by the Fund for Animals eliminated the short time advantage we had to obtain the benefit of a hunt," he said.

The Commission's biologists will remain busy over the next few months assessing the status of the deer herd in the area, and will continue their management efforts, according to the Commission release.

'Couple' will receive touch of Glass

By Ian Harmer

HOLLYWOOD — It's about to follow countless top-line actors into one of the best-known roles in Neil Simon's cast of characters, but Ron Glass is confident he's up to it. Taping starts this month on the 13th episode of "The New Odd Couple," uniting Glass with Desmond Wilton — late of "Savoy & Son" — in an update of the five-year hit series starring Tony Randall and Jack Klugman.

Most of the characters from the 1970s series will be revived in a darker shade, and producer Gary Michael will be doing his bit for creative conservation by recycling old scripts.

Waxing nostalgic
With the aid of some heavy fictionalizing, "American Hot Wax" manages to capture the mood of rock's early days. Tim McIntire is featured as Alan Freed, the d.j. whose story "Wax" purports to tell. The film will air on ABC Friday, Aug. 13.

Shanks shakes shackles of network position

By Ruth Thompson
Bob Shanks, a lean, personable young looking man, has a deep understanding of the television industry that few can match. Although he seems major changes should be made, Shanks is not a man who has reconciled himself to the present "talking-heads" format where a camera closes in on an interviewee until you can count the eyelashes. Why? Well he has become a talking head himself. His new novel, "Love Is Not Enough," Norton, is considered "fey" enough still to warrant a book tour, a promotional gig destined to make him a multi-city talking head.

Four years ago, as a vice president at ABC, he was wearing two hats. One corresponded to his management position, one to his role as creator of new shows. He was mentioned often as a future candidate for a network (any network) presidency. Shanks himself ruled that out when he came to relinquish his v.p.-in-charge-of-programming title.

Enough, says Shanks. "Love is from a contemporary woman's viewpoint. Although much of his creative work depicts marriage's stirring state little inspiration for this topic can have been derived from his personal life. Shanks says he has nightmares about what his life would have been without wife Ann. She is writing with him on his newest project: developing programming for cable TV's "Playboy" Channel.

"Ironically, I found I felt like a bum working at home," Shanks says. "So while I waited away from being in charge at a network, suddenly I'm right back managing, keeping up creative functions, too. Apparently wearing two hats is a hard-to-back habit."
